MATHILDE AND RIDING MASTER FINALLY MARRY

Ceremony Performed at London Registrar With Friends As Witnesses Romance Causes World-wide Attention

HAROLD McCORMICK CONFIRMS REPORT DAUGHTER'S MARRIAGE

By Associated Press

LONDON, Apr. 14.—London only today learned of the marriage of Mathilda McCormick and Max Oser. Even the registrar who performed the ceremony did not know the couple who appeared at his office with twofriends and without ceremony, a few legal phrases only were said and the couple were made man and wife. It was the anti-climax to a romance of an eighteen year old girl and a man who is more than twice her age, which attracted world-wide attention.

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, Apr., 14.—Harold F McCormick, father of the bride and chairman of the International Harvester Executive committee, today confirmed the marriage of Mathilde McCormick to Max Oser, Swiss soldier and riding master. He announced merely that the ceremony occurred in London April 12

BOYD BROWNING DEFIES OFFICERS

Warrant for Arrest Withdrawn When Offender Dares Men To Come Get Him

Defying the officers to take him, Boyd Browning, alleged assailant of sixteen-year old Doyle Marsee, is still at large at Fern Lake. The warrant for his arrest has been withdrawn.

Constable J. M. Thompson sent his deputy Leslie Goodman, over there to bring Browning in yesterday morning. Browning refused to come saying that if there were enough officers in Middlesboro to take him, let them come after him. Thompson reported the matter to Magistrate Chas. G. Smyth, saying that some one would likely be killed if they persisted in trying to make the arrest, but that he would make the capture at any cost. The magistrate withdrew the warrant and the matter has been dropped.

BALL GAME WITH HARLAN, SCHEDULED TODAY, OFF

Neither Harlan nor Middlesboro won in the baseball game scheduled for Harlan this afternoon. J. Pluvius, traditional enemy to outdoor sports, put a crimp in the game, sending the M H. S. boys back home after they had gone as far as Pineville on the way this morning.

No arrangements have been made to play the game at a later date, according to Prof. R. F. Porter, athletic director. It was thought this morning that the rain would probably continue throughout the day or render the field unfit for playing and a halt was called at Pineville.

MRS. IRA ROARK DIES AT HOME IN NOETOWN

Mrs. Ira Roark, age 52, died at her home at Noetown at 11 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She is survived by her husband, two sons, Tom Blackburn and Deery Turner: one sister, Mrs. Jennie Turner and one brother, J. M. Turner. She was well known in the community having lived there several years. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. Jim Browning officiating. Interment was in the Hensley cemetery.

STATE FIRE DEPARTMENT SENDS CLEAN UP POSTERS

Posters for use in the spring clean-up campaign which will be conducted here and in other cities April 23-28 have been issued by the State Department of Fire Prevention to the local fire department The posters contain the following information:

Fire and diseases are invited by rubbish piles. A large part of the fire waste of this country is directly due to untidy conditions; heavy losses naturally increase fire hazard and cost of insurance. We urge the co-operation of all residents of the state in a general clean up of the winter's accumulation of papers, old furniture, old rags, discarded clothing, rubbish and other valueless materials from the attic to the basement of all buildings or on all premises. Co-operate, get busy, act, assist.

Editor Haynes Here Yesterday

Editor Ben Haynes of the Claiborne Progress, Tazewell, was in town yesterday. He was burned out in the Tazewell fire about a month ago but he reported yesterday that he had his new officein such shape now that he intended to start publishing his paper in Tazewell next week. The Progress has been printed by the Three States here since the fire.

By Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Apr. 14.—Efforts to insert an endorsement of the League of Nations in the war prevention resolution of the National League Women Voters at their annual convention failed here today for lack of a second to the motion. Lord Robert Cecil delivered an address on the subject here last night.

RICHARD HALE CONCERT IN AUDITORIUM TUESDAY NIGHT

The Richard Hale concert to be given in the central school auditorium Tuesday evening, is being looked forward to with pleasant anticipation by Middlesboro music lovers who are expecting it the finest musical treat of the season. The concert begins at 8:15 o'clock. There are no reserved seats, the general admission being one dollar. Mrs J. T. Alderson has the concert in charge.

Mr Hale is considered one of the most promising baritones in the musical world The Musical American says of him: "Much may be said in favor of the dramatic fervor and expression with which Mr Hale rendered the heavier selections of his varied program is voice is rich and powerful and he uses it with intelligent understanding of each interpretation."

UNCOVER IRISH PLOT IN LONDON

Purport to Find Documents Plotting Destruction of Life and Property

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Apr 14.—Documents revealing plots involving the destruction of life and property here are reported have come into the possession of Scotland Yard as a result of last night's raids on residences or resorts of Irish men or women suspected of being Republican supporters. Plots revealed an attack on London's lighting power sources. Efforts to release prisoners from London prisons, and projected attempts on the lives of police officials.

A "little boy" of the coca-cola bottle type was found in the possession of Dow Brooks, according to Policeman C M. Yeary and A. D. DeBusk, who made the arrest at the rear of a pool room on Ashbury avenue this afternoon. Paul Lewis and Hugh Wiston who were with him were also arrested. The trio are held for trial Monday. W. B. Saylor, federal prohibition officer who is in Middlesboro this afternoon, has requested Judge J. G. Rollins to issue federal warrants for the men.

ASKS COOPERATION IN HANDLING OF RAILROAD TRAFFIC

Secretary Hoover Urges Commercial Organizations to Help Railways By Getting Coal This Summer, Load Cars to Capacity

ASKS REFRAIN FROM DEMANDING EXCESS CAR SUPPLY

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Apr 14—Secretary Hoover today asked commercial organizations to cooperate with the railroad managements in a national effort to get the large volume of railroad traffic expected this year handled expeditiously and with out confusion. He declared it vital for shippers to secure their winter supply of coal this summer, other shippers to load cars to capacity, reduce car reconsignments and refrain from demanding excess car supply in operations.

"AMERICANS, WORLD'S HOPE," HUTCHINS' SUBJECT MONDAY

"Americans, the World's Hope," will be the subject of William J. Hutchins' address at the Parent Teachers' meeting at th ehigh school auditorium Monday night. In addition to this speech there will be a short program and the business of the association will be transacted.

The association is to be congratulated for their success in securing the presence of Mr. Hutchins here. He is the president of Berea College and the author of the $5,000 prize winning Code of Childrens' Morals. His address will be especially appropriate for a Parent Teachers' organization.

BUREAU TO AID U. OF K. GRADUATES GET EMPLOYMENT

By Associated Press

LEXINGTON, April 13—Plans for the establishment of a placement bureau at the University of Kentucky to aid graduates in obtaining employment have been under discussion by members of the faculty and it is likely that such office will be created within the next year, university authorities say.

The committee will endeavor to find employment for this year's graduating class and pave the way for the work of the placement bureau of the future. In nearly every phase of it the university has some former student and these graduates are to be asked to keep in touch with the university on matters of employment

Heretofore many students have sought employment through employment agencies. The college engineering has been placing its graduates for more than twenty-five ears while the registrars office has been the medium through which teachers have obtained empoyment after graduation. Plans contemplate the employment of a permanent secretary with one or more assistants who will handle the work throughout the year.

Hugh Richardson and R. L. Maddox will spend Sunday in Knoxville.

South's Greatest Mystery Taken To Supreme Court For Solution

ATLANTA, Ga, April 13—Winding its way through the weirdest legal labyrinth on record in American courts the mysterious disappearance of the Nelms girls, Atlanta heiresses, has been appealed to the Unite States Supreme Court.

That is the status today of the south's most puzzleing mystery which for ten years has baffed the most astute of detectives and which has brought Victor E .Innes three times before the bar of justice, twice to be convicted and once acquitted.

The learned justices at Washington, far more accustomed to deal with dry-as-dust cases with great corporations as litigants, soon will be asked to consider—

Whether Innes slew Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis and her sister Beatrice Nelms, ground their bodies to bits in a meat chopper, boiled the mass in a potash filled caldron and then disposed of the residue.

Whether the federal court at Atlanta did right in admitting evidence of this alleged murder, of which Innes was once acquitted, in an effort to convict Innes of a federal charge of using the mails to defraud Mrs. Dennis.

Whether the conviction of Innes on that charge in the Atlanta court and his sentence of five years in the penitentiary, just reached after a spectacular trial, shall stand or be annulled.

Atlanta Excited

Meanwhile Atlanta is settling down after the excitement of atending the revelations at the trial of Innes, former United States district attorney in Nevada More than 100 witnesses were summoned—from Detroit, Portland, Ore., Los Angeles, and San Antonio, Tex.

Here is the strange story the prosecution brought forth:

Mrs. Dennis, in 1912, went to Nevada to secure adivorce from her husband. There she met Innes, a brilliant lawyer, handsome ,of charming personality. He took charge of her case.

And when Mrs. Dennis. freed from martial bonds, returned to Atlanta, it was only natural she entered into a correspondence with her attorney friend.

But, the prosecution charged, Mrs. Dennis sent Innes large sums of money ostensibly for investment, in various western properties.

Innes Visits Her

Innes then came to Atlanta. The prosecution introduced evidence tending to show Innes visited the palatial Nelms home at Smyrna, seven miles from here, and stole several documents including letters he had written to Mrs. Dennis.

When Innes left Atlanta, Mrs Dennis is said to have accompanied him. At Memphis Miss Beatrice Nelms, sister of Mrs. Dennis, joined them. All went to San Antonio.

There Innes and his wife rented a house. Mrs. Dennis and her sister several times were seen about the premises.

Meanwhile evidence shows Innes bought a meat-chopper caldron and caustics.

Suddenly the Nelms girls disappeared. They never since have been seen.

Innes Seized

Only a few weeks later Innes and Mrs. Innes went to Portland, Ore. There Innes was seized, brought back to San Antonio and tried for the murder. He was acquitted. The prosecution could not produce the bodies of the missing women nor, indeed, any proof they were dead.

But Innes was brought back to Georgia, tried on a charge of larceny and convicted. It was shown he misappropriated funds entrusted to him by Mrs. Dennis. He was sentenced to seven years' hard labor.

The prosecution at the trial tried to introduce evidence bearing on the alleged murder, but it was ruled out as irrelevant.

Barely had Innes completed his prison term than he was again brought here for the trial—this time on a federal charge of having used the mails to defraud.

"Murder" Evidence Up

Again the prosecution sought to introduce the "murder" evidence—and this time it was successful. The caldron and meat-chopper bought by Innes were actually brought into the courtroom.

The judge even permitted attorneys to question Innes about the alleged murder.

"Why did you ship this meat-chopper from San Antonio to Portland under an assumed name?" they asked him.

"Didn't you put the remains of two bodies in a cesspool?"

"Why was this bloody knife found in your trunk with this meat-chopper?"

Replying Innes broke the silence of years He denied that he had a hand in or knowledge of the disappearance He denied that he had accepted money from Mrs Dennis.

A jury in the Atlanta court found him guilty of fraud through the mails, after having heard the "murder" theory.

What will be the action of the Supreme Court?

TOP TO BOTTOM: BEATRICE NELMS, VICTOR E. INNES AND MRS. ELOISE NELMS DENNIS.

FOR A BETTER MIDDLESBORO

Specific improvements make up the details of a campaign for a BIGGER AND BETTER MIDDLESBORO, and a list is to be compiled of these details, for use from day to day. Today we are advocating:

That the swinging bridge across the canal, back of the school, be taken down. The bridge has been condemned, then ordered to be taken down, but still it swings, and the children use it

That our passenger depot be made a cleaner, more sightly and more sanitary place at once, and that the utmost influence be brought to bear toward getting a new station.

That a general movement for street improvement be instituted immediately, with emphasis on repair and construction of Cumberland Avenue.

That a system of street marking be devised in this city so that a stranger or for that matter, a resident, can find his way around without undue inquiries.

DECISION TODAY TO SELL GOVERNMENT MERCHANT VESSELS

Work Under Terms 1920 Marine Act; If Unable to Sell Without Great Sacrifice May Proceed With Federal Operation

ADMINISTRATION DETERMINED MERCHANT MARINE FOR NATION

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 14.—President Harding and members of the shipping board today decided to sell the government merchant vessels today under the terms of the Marine Act of 1920 on condition that after being consolidated into lines suitable for service they would be maintained. But if unable to sell them without a "justifiable sacrifice" their policy then would be to proceed to government operation. The whole policy, a White House statement said, was builded on the principle the administration is determined, that the nation should have a merchant marine.

MIDDLESBORO MINISTERS TO MEET MONDAY MORNING

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Middlesboro Ministers' association will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The place for the meeting is not know yet, though efforts will be made to have it at the library. Failing in this, they will hold themeeting in the circuit court room of the city hall. No definite business has been scheduled for the meeting.

BOSWORTH AT ROAD BOOSTERS MEETING

Bosworth Trail Exponents in Richmond yesterday—Big Banquet Last Night

Honorable Joseph F. Bosworth returned this morning from a trip to Louisville and Richmond. While in Richmond he attended a meeting of Bosworth Trail Boosters, at which he was the prinicpal speaker. He reports the meeting as one of the most interesting he had attended in some time. There were about two hundred road boosters in attendance.

The meeting convened yesterday afternoon at the Richmond courthouse and the other session was held at night. After the business session a banquet was given the guests by the Richmond Rotary Club at the Hotel Glyndon. The Berea Kiwanis Club members were also guests.

Judge Bosworth, in whose honor the Bosworth Trail has been named, made the chief address at the meeting. He spoke on road building in Kentucky with particular emphasis on what better roads meant to the section of the state which the new trail will serve.

A THOUGHT

Let no man deceive you with vain words, for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience.—Eph. 5:6.

The empty vessel makes the greatest sound. Shakespeare.

CITY STREETS NOT MARKED

One of the first things that a visitor in Middlesboro notices is the absence of signs at the street corners indicating the names of the streets. A number of inquiries are necessary to find a desired location and even then information may not be clear and authentic. It has been noticed that many of the old residents here are not familiar with the names of the streets outside the business section. They know where nearly every family lives but it is difficult to convey the information to a stranger.

The method would suffice for a village or a very small town but it is entirely inadequate for a city the size of Middlesboro. In view of our increasing size it is time that we put away the small town methods and adopt those of larger cities. If we would make Middlesboro attractive to visitors, have conveniences that will make them wish to come here and live, we must make some radical changes regarding the physical part of our city.

Signs indicating the names of intersecting streets should be placed at each street corner, or at least at convenient distances apart. Other cities no larger than Middlesboro have done this and the cost is not great. Small attractive wooden signs could be furnished and put up at small cost, while metal signs which would last for years could be procured for a comparatively small sum.

Such conveniences would not only be appreciated by visitors, but also by delivery men, officers or any individual who ever attempts to locate some residence or firm. Adoption of this suggestion would add inestimably to the general public efficiency by eliminating loss of time.

IS RELIGION DECLINING?

The statistics just published concerning the growth of the churches in America suggest that the "signs of indifference" to religion which the archbishop of York observes in his own country, and which he imputes to the war, shaken nerves and broken ideals, have not shown themselves in America taking the country over. Numerically at any rate, the religious bodies are increasing. They increased in 1922 far beyond the average of the preceding five years. The total membership is approximately a million and a who has been for twenty-five years a And there are other numerical signs of a widening and deepening interest in religion. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, who has ben for twenty-five years a pastor on Broadway, said a few weeks ago that the revolution now going on in religion is the greatest that "has taken place since the days of the "Apostles". To his eyes there are signs of the dawn of a new age and the spread of religion "over the entire area of human action."

The very dispute about religious matters, which arise in some places above all other issues, are another indication of the hold which the things of religion, believed to be fudamental to a righteous life and spiritual salvation, have upon the great masses of men and women. They seek religion, not as a narcotic, but as a nourishing food. Science, with all its ministries, can after all do no more than explain the mechanism. It can itself give no advice as to the eternal purpose of existence, except to assure us that it has been an increasing purpose as traced by microscope and telescope through the ages, and ,moreover that it has not walked with aimless feet.

Whatever the specific interpretations of the church statistics, no one can find a sinister import in them. With 98,878,367 persons in America who in the supreme test of life or death turn to a particular communion protestant or Roman Catholic, Jewish or Eastern Orthodox, or Latter Day Saints, it is proper to speak of America as a religious nation and increasingly so. It is therefore to be expected with confidence that whenever a moral issue is clearly and intelligently presented to such a constituency it will be rightly decided no matter what our political shortcomings or errors may appear to be.

A TOWN FUNERAL

A town that never has anything to do in a public way is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give affairs is making the shroud. The man who does not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from any public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard time, preaches the funeral, sings the doxology. And thus, the town lies buried from all sorrow and care.—Pike County News.

THE OPEN FORUM

EDITOR DAILY NEWS:

I am pleased to see your efforts at a constructive campaign for Middlesboro and I have heard comments on the points you are stressing in a number of places. You are right that Middlesboro is losing step with progress. I hope that you are right in thinking that this is only temporarily the case, although I confess I am not quite such an optimist.

I think the big thing this is the matter is that we have no organization to look to as an active factor in community upbuilding. The city government was once such a factor and although we kicked about high taxes and levies, we didn't kick after improvements were made and we saw that the only way they could be obtained was by going after them.

Recently we had looked to the Kiwanis Club as "builders" as they profess to be and the work that they accomplished the first year of their organization and the major part of last year was indeed commendable. But if anyone can point to a really worthwhile thing that the club has brought about in the last five or six months, I will be grateful for th information. It is with sincere regret that I notice this organization, apparently falling into the general routine of business meetings that mean no more than any fraternal lodge session.

We can have improvements and a progressive city if we want it enough but, candidly, I don't think the citizens here do. Until they understand the truth of "casting bread upon the water," until they see that by taking a little time from their own business to put on the public's business they are really futhering their own future interests,—until this time, talk and protests are so much lost breath.

AN INTIMATE STORY OF INNERMOST EMOTIONS REVEALED IN PRIVATE LETTERS
Copyright 1923 -NEA Service Inc

LETTER FROM ALICE HAMILTON, BRIDESMAID AT THE WEDDING OF HER SISTER, LESLIE HAMILTON, AND JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT, TO HER FRIEND, ELIZABETH STOKELY

DEAR, DEAR BETTY:

Only when I am the bride herself, and perhaps not even then, will I ever have the thrill that I had as a bridemaid at my sister Leslie's wedding yesterday.

You see, Betty dear, I had a secret knowledge of a blighted life

I knew that, although Karl Whitney was standing bravely smiling at the other end of the line of ushers, he had received a thrust in his heart from which he would never recover

How true it is, how very true it is, that truth is stranger than fiction!

There stood that splendid young man, much better looking than the bridegroom, his face pale with emotion but with dauntless courage he held himself erect and only I could see that underneath it all he was being tortured in a way that had never been accomplished by the Spanish Inquisition.

I could not find it in my heart to forgive my sister Leslie had she not, poor darling, been utterly unconscious of the depth and breadth and height of the love which Karl Whitney was even then silently laying at her feet.

I do not think that I shall ever forget, however, the look of gratitude which came to me from his sad eyes.

As Leslie came up to the altar and was met by John and his best man and the ushers had arranged themselves at the side, I had a chance to look across at him and received his thanks for putting the pearls—his pearls, dear Betty—about my sister's neck

Oh, Betty, you will never believe this, but as Leslie put her hand forward to receive the ring, she put her other hand rather convulsively to her throat and caught Karl's pearls.

Could anything be more dramatic—more tragic; and to think that only I and Karl Whitney knew!

Betty if you put this in your new story, it will make you an author probably one of the six best sellers and you will have to divide the money with me.

I could tell at just what point of the ceremony Karl began to get himself under control He looked over to me and a half smile curved his lips, and I knew that my hero was himself again, and that he was saying in his heart:

"Oh, lyots love, even though you are bride of another, I will be your devoted friend so long as my life shall last"

At that moment, Betty, I named him Sir Galahad and I knew he was whispering to himself, "My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure."

I am afraid, Betty, that you and I will never either of us be the recipient of a love like this AND I pray God that if we do, we shall not throw it away for the dross of some other love that is not as beautiful, even if we do it as unconsciously as Leslie has done.

Don't thin kfrom this letter that I consider John—I expect that I will have to call him Brother John from now on—a bad man. In fact, I consider him, as men go, above the average, but only once in a century perhaps is a Sir Galahad born.

When I see you I will tell you further about this I can not tell you some of the things that have happened they are too sacred to put on paper. Particularly that moment in the vestry when Karl took me up in his arms

"Dear little Alice," he said, "after this I shall have to treat you as a real grown-up woman, but today I am going to kiss you as though you were really and truly the little girl that I have known and loved all my life."

And then, Betty, he kissed me, long and lingeringly.

It is a kiss I shall remember to my dying day.

I am afraid, Betty dear, that it has spoiled me for all other kisses, that he has spoiled me for all other men.

And to think he has dedicated his life to my only sister!

But it is something to have known of a great love, even though it be not mine.

Alice.

The world is a small place after all—
A trite remark as you may recall,
But nevertheless that threadbare phrase is so.
And it's certainly great, beyond a doubt,
As hither and thither you roam about.
To meet somebody who knows somebody you know.

What! You know Jones? Bill Jones, my frend?
Well say, will miracles never end?
Why, gosh, I'VE known him since ever so long ago!
Then you and the stranger feel like chums,
For a sense of intimate friendship comes,
When you meet somebody who knows somebody you know!

The ice is melted and stiff restraint
Is one of the things that was, but ain't
And your heart is glowing a constantly warmer glow;
For next to meeting a friend from home
There's nothing cheerfuller as you roam,
Than meting somebody who knows somebody you know!

THE YOUNG BIRCHTREE

By the lake is a young birch standing, in the water mirrored clear;
How grandly its boughs are expanding,
and lovelier year by year;
The tall white stem is up-rearing its crown o'er the margin low,
Not in boasting, tho' stately appearing,
for nought of self does it know.

In God's eye and man's a blessing in growing daily more fair;
Ever upward its branches pressing give a roof to the songbirds of air;
But the birchtree is full of wonder,
unwitting of rank or renown.
O'er the waves in their summer splendour, more humbly the leaves hang down.

How comes it? With brushwood and brier, in the billow reflected bright,
While rising higher and higher
into the region of light,
To itself it seems to be sending downward its beautiful head,
And evermore lowlier bending
as the slender branches outspread.

Thou dearest young birchtree, thou fairest,
to thee I will often turn;
The lesson thou sweetly declarest,
God grant I may truly learn!
In my own estimation growing more humble each passing day,
Let me follow God's leading, well knowing
His humbling exalteth alway.

TODAY'S RECIPES

OMELET BACON ANDS POTATOE

Cut one cupful of diced potatoes from cold boiled potatoes and cut four slices of bacon into small pieces. In a frying pan place two tablespoons of bacon fat and in it cook the potatoes until heated, but not browned. Beat four eggs lightly, add one-half teaspoon of salt and a little pepper, and pour over the bacon and potatoes.

Cook, moving the pan almost continuously until the egg is set. Then slip the knife around the edge of the pan and fold as an omelet. Turn onto a hot platter and garnish with parsley.

Kentucky— Tobacco Grower Supreme

No other State approximates the 506,000,000 pounds of tobacco which is Kentucky's annual crop. The State ranks first in the production of asphalt and fluorspar, second in sorghum and fifth in coal. Flour and gristmill products top her manufactures, which totalled nearly $400,000,000 at the last industrial census.

With large sources of wealth in farm, mine, forest and factory, Kentucky has been fortunate in having banks that could adequately meet her varied needs.

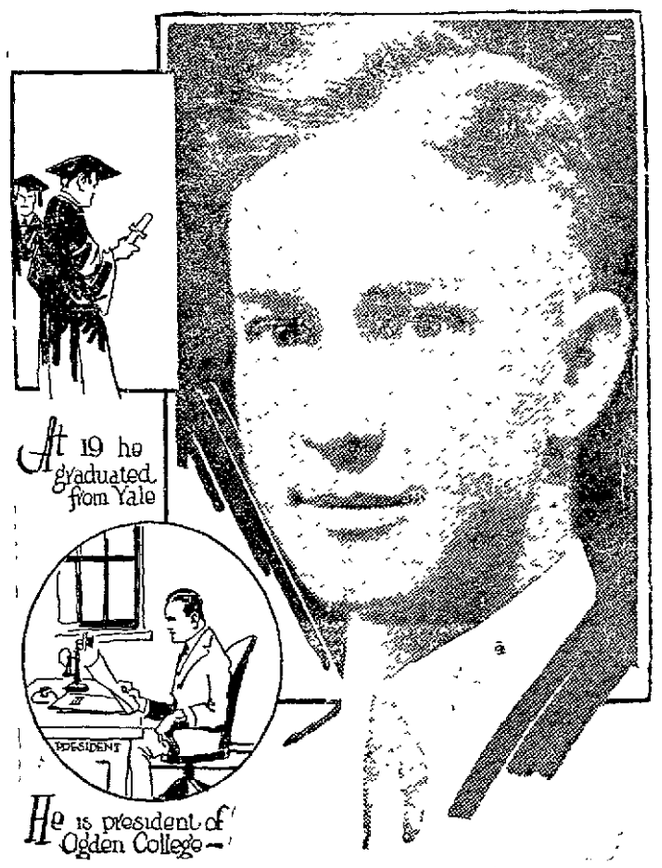
Is President of College at 23!



CHARLES E. WHITTLE

BROWNSVILLE, Ky., April 12—Ask the folks in this little county seat, 20 miles from a railroad and 10 miles from Mammoth Cave, about who's who and they will talk to you of Charles E. Whittle.

Charles is the town celebrity. He has just turned 23, and is president of Ogden College in historic Bowling Green, Ky.

If there is a younger president of a standard college Brownsville has never heard of him.

Ten years ago Charles was one of the village boys in short pants and bare feet. He could "shinny" up the slickest apple tree and he knew the shortest route to every melon patch.

At 13 he had never seen a railroad train, but he knew about all there was to learn in the one-room grade school. It was 30 miles to the nearest high school or college. So Charles' mother —his father died when Charles was 12—took him to Bowling Green.

A. B. At 18

And at 18 Charles got his A. B. degree from Ogden College.

A year later he was graduated from Yale. Meanwhile he had been commissioned a lieutenant in the army.

When he was made a college president a few weeks ago, the home folks decided it was the best record they had heard of. But—"I don't think I have done much," Charles says with his boyish smile. "I did not ask the college board for this job. I had built up quite a little law practice in Brownsville. But now I think I'll stay here for a while.

Age Of Youth

"Did you ever stop to think that the so-called sheiks and flappers have gone in for every field except legislation, and are making good?

"If they ever go in for congress, that crowd up there will run up thewhite flag and retire. Of course we are different. There would be no progress if we were not."

Walker B. Hines, director general of railroads during the war, is one of Ogdden College's alumni.

Whittle's Philosophy

One can reach almost any goal if he will everlastingly keep hammering away.

I think that most of the so-called successful men can attribute much of their success to their mothers.

Youth should be no bar to responsible positions.

All people do not have the same educational advantages, but there's not much excuse for a man saying he has not had a chance.

A college education is not always possible. It is not always essential for success, but my advice is to go on through college. It will not harm you and it may do you much good.

Children's Code of Morals Written By Speaker Here Monday Night

The Children's Code of Morals, printed below, was written by William J. Hutchins, president of Berea College, who will speak to the Parent Teachers' Association in Middlesboro Monday night. The code was awarded the Donor's prize of $5,000 in the National Morality codes competition, 1916, for the best children's code of morals. All the states in the union participated in the competition. The code, in full, follows:

CHILDREN'S CODE OF MORALS

For Elementary Schools
By William J. Hutchins

Boys and girls who are good Americans try to become strong and useful, that our country may become ever greater and better. Therefore they obey the laws of right living which the best American have always obeyed.

I

The Law Of Health

The good American tries to gain and keep perfect health.

The welfare of our country depends upon those who try to be physically fit for their daily work. Therefore:

1.—I will keep my clothes, my body and my mind clean.

2.—I will avoid those habits which harm me, and I will make and never break those habits which will help me.

3.—I will try to take such food, sleep and exercise as will keep me in perfect health.

The Law Of Self Control

Those who best contorol themselves can best serve their country.

1.—I will control my tongue, and will not allow it to speak mean, vulgar or profane words.

2.—I will control my temper and will not get angry when people or things displease me.

3.—I will control my thoughts, and will not allow a foolish wish to spoil a wise purpose.

The Law Of Self-Reliance

The good American is self reliant.

Self conceit is silly, but self reliance is necessary to boys and girls who would be strong and useful.

1.—I will gladly listen to the advice of older and wiser people; I will reverence the wishes of those who love and care for me, and who know life and me better than I; but I will learn to think for myself, choose for myself, act for myself.

2.—I will not be afraid of being laughed at I will not be afraid of doing right when the crowd does wrong. Fear never made a good American.

The Law Of Reliability

The good American is reliable

Our country grows great and good as her citizens are able more fully to trust each other. Therefore:

1.—I will be honest in word and in act I will not lie, sneak, or pretend, nor will I keep the truth from those who have a right to it

2.—I will do no wrong in the hope of not being found out. I cannot hide the truth from myself and cannot hide it from others.

3.—I will not take permission which does not belong to me.

4.—I will do promptly what I have promised to do. If I have made a foolish promise, I will at once confess my mistake, and I will try to make good any harm which my mistake may have caused. I will so speak and act that people will find it easier to trust each other.

The Law Of Clean Play

The good American plays fair.

Clean play increases and trains one's strength and helps one to be more useful to ones country. Therefore.

1.—I will not cheat, nor will I play for keeps. If I should not play fair, the loser would lose the fun of the game, the winner would lose his self-respect, and the game itself would become a mean and often cruel business.

2.—I will treat my opponent with courtesy.

3.—If I play in a group game, I will play, not for my own glory, but for the success of my team and the fun of the game.

4.—I will be a good loser or a generous winner.

The Law Of Duty

The good American does his duty.

The shirker or the willing idler lives upon the labor of others, burdens others with the work which he ought to do himself.

He harms his fellow citizens, and so harms his country.

I will try to find out what my duty is, what I ought to do, and my duty I will do, whether it is easy or hard. What I ought to do I can do.

The Law Of Good Workmanship

The good American tries to do the right thing in the right way.

The welfare of our country depends upon those who have learned to do the right way the things that ought to be done. Therefore:

1.—I will get the best possible education, and learn all that I can from those who have learned to do the right thing in the right way.

2.—I will take an interest in my work, and will not be satisfied with slipshod and merely passable work. A wheel or a rail carelessly made may cause the death of hundreds.

3.—I will try to do the right thing, in the right way, even when no one else sees or praises me. But when I have done my best, I will not envy those who have done better, or have received larger reward. Envy spoils the work and the worker.

The Law Of Team-Work

The good American works in friendly co-operation with his fellow workers.

One man alone could not build a city or a great railroad. One man alone would find it hard to build a house or bridge That I may have bread, men have sowed and reaped, men have made plows and thresbers, men have built mills and mined coal, men have made stoves and kept stores. As we learn better how to work together, the welfare of our country is advanced.

1.—In whatever work I do with others, I will do my part and help others do their part.

2.—I will keep in order the things which I use in my work. When things are out of place, they are often in the way, and sometimes are hard to find. Disorder means confusion, and the waste of time and patience.

3.—In all my work with others I will be cheerful. Cheerlessness depresses all the workers and injures all the work.

4.—When I have received money for my work, I will be neither a miser nor a spendthrift. I will save or spend as one of the friendly workers of America.

The Law Of Kindness

The good American is kind.

In America those who are of different races, colors, and conditions must live together. We are of many different sorts, but we are one great people. Every unkindness hurts the common life Therefore:

1.—I will be kind in all of my thoughts. I will bear no spites or grudges. I will not think of myself above any other boy or girl just because I am of a different race or conditaion. I will never despise anybody.

2.—I will be kind in all my speech. I will not gossip nor will I speak unkindly of anyone. Words may wound or heal.

3.—I will be kind in all my acts. I will not selfishly insist on having my own way. I will always be polite. Rude people are not good Americans. I will not trouble unnecessarily those who do work for me. I will do my best to prevent cruelty, and will give my best help to those who need it most.

The Law of Loyalty

The good American is loyal.

If our America is to become ever greater and better, her citizens must be loyal, devotedly faithful, in every relation of life.

1.—I will be loyal to my family. In loyalty I will gladly obey my parents or those who are in their place. I will do my best to help each member of my family to strength and usefulness.

2.—I will be loyal to my school. In loyalty I will obey and help other pupils to obey those rules which further the good of all

3.—I will be loyal to my town, my state, my country In loyality I will respect and help others to respect their laws and their courts of justice.

4.—I will be loyal to humanity. In loyalty I will do my best to help the friendly relations of our country with every other country, and to give to everyone in every land the best possible chance.

If I try simply to be loyal to my family, I may be disloyal to my school. If I try simply to be loyal to my school, I may be disloyal to my home town, my state, my country. If I try simply to be loyal to my town, stateand country, I may be disloyal to humanity then I shall surely be loyal to my town, to my school, and to my family.

And he who obeys the law of loyalty obeys all the other nine laws of the Good American.

MUSIC CONTESTS TO BE PART OF K. E. A. MEETING PROGRAM

By Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Apr. 13.—Contests in music to determine the best instrumental and vocal organizations in the state have been arranged as a part of the Kentucky Educational Association meeting here April 18 to 21, according to an announcement by Miss Caroline B Bourgard, chairman of the music committee of the K. E. A.

These events will be divided into bands and orchestras with a maximum number of twenty-four players. The choruses may be composed of men or women of mixed organizations, with a maximum of twenty-four singers. For each class there will be two sections, one for high school students and one for musicians beyond high school age. A few years ago a contest of this kind held in this connection with the K. E. A. met with a marked success according to Miss Bourgard.

Orchestra leaders have been notified tha tthe test piece originally announced has been changed from the overture of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" to the "Priests' March from Athalia."

Sideburns are not so numerous, but some look pretty common.

Will Hays has secured a commission in the army. Will just gets a straight salary in the movies.

Pola Negri, who was formerly Countess Dumbski, is not acting Dumbski by marrying Charlie Chaplin.

Trying to keep two people from marrying usually results in a married couple for enemies.

People who worry about everything will worry about nothing also.

Its a great life if you don't waken.

FELT TIRED, SO TIRED
Indiana Lady Says She Was Run-Down, Suffered With Her Back, Took Cardui, and Got Well.
Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.
"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping.
"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine.
"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs.
"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time.
"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."
If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you.
Take Cardui. NC-147

REMEDIES FOR COAL EVILS OUTLINED

E. C. Marhan Of Knoxville Is Representative On Bituminous Operators' Commission

NEW YORK, April 12—Definite remedies for the "four principal evils" of the coal industry, prepared for recommendation to the Unite States Coal Commission were outlined today by the bituminous operators, special committee preliminary to a conference here tomorrow by representatives of 70 per cent of the soft coal industry.

Called by the National Coal Association, the conference will include many non-members invited in an effort to get all big operators and all hitherto distinct faction united behind a program to be laid before the eFderal Commission

The report of John C Brydon, of Somerset, Pa., chairman of the special committee, will say that the four principal evils of the industry are:

"1—Instability of labor conditions due to the monopolistic power and methods of the United Mine Workers of America.

"2—Traffic difficulties, which constitute an obvious fundamental detriment to satisfactory supplies and prices of coal.

"3—Seasonal demand in correction of which the committee will recommend a determined and thorough effort to encourage and teach the storage of coal.

"4—Speculation.

"That the great body of constructive business consumptions who constitute the bulk of the bituminous mining industry," the report stated, "are as desirous as the public itself to so stabilize the industry as to stamp out the speculator."

WOMEN FIGHT SOVIETS' "HOLY WAR"

WAGED TO DRIVE RELIGION FROM RUSSIA

MOST REVEREND DR. TIKHON

LONDON, Apr 13.—Workmen and women of Russia are the chief obstacles hindering the war on all organized religion declared by the Soviets.

The war against the "denizens of heaven"—as the Reds themselves call it—goes on despite world protests

Most Reverend Dr. Tikhon, former Patriarch of All Russia and Metropolitan of Moscow, is the next to go on trial for his life. It will come as a sequel to the trials of Roman Catholic prelates and priests, in which Monsignor Budkewicz, vicar general of Petrograd, was executed and Archbishop Zepliak, Metropolitan of Petrograd, was first condemned to death and the sentence was later commuted to 10 years imprisonment.

The massed pressure of the entire civilized world against what witnesses of the trials call a travesty of justice has not swayed the Soviets in their anti-religion war.

What Soviet Says

This is what "Pravada,' official Soviet paper says:

"We must carry on our agitation against religion just as systematically as we do in political questions, but with even more determination.

"Although we have declared war on the denizens of heaven, is by no means easy to sweep them from the household of the workmen The women especially are intractable.

"With an iron sweeper, the workmen must clear their homes of the last vestige of allthat is 'holy'."

In conformity with this policy the all powerful Cheka—the Soviet secret service—is acting against all religious sects. Buildings of the Orthodox Russian Church have been secularized. The Jewish Synagogue of Minsk has been turned into a Soviet lecture hall. Many Roman Catholic churches have been seized.

Charges against the prelates already tried and executed or sentenced to prison are the same as those pending against Dr. Tikhon—"persistent and organized opposition to the decrees of the Soviet for the separation of church and state, and opposition to the sequestration of church treasures." This means that they persisted in holding services and prevented the government from seizing gold and silver vessels belonging to the churches.

Dr. Tikhon met refusal when he offered to seel all church treasures for the starving people, stipulating that the clergy should have the authority to select the articles not used in the rites of thechurch and that they alone should distribute to the needy.

Public Prosecutor Krylenko, in his speech to the Supreme Revolutionary Tribunal, at the trial of the Catholic prelates, sneered that "they have lost the game and must pay up."

Bebrichieff Pushkin, on behalf of the prisoners, retorted:

"If you want to employ these tactics would it not be more simple and honest to organize a wholesale slaughter under government auspices"
